

THE ANATOMY OF THE MARINER

“In spite of rock and tempest’s roar” – A wine has many things to overcome in a given vintage.

“In spite of false lights on the shore” – Mother Nature, and pests, conspire against the grapes.

“Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea!” – The grapes, the wine, and the winemaker persevere, in spite of the obstacles and challenges that are presented.

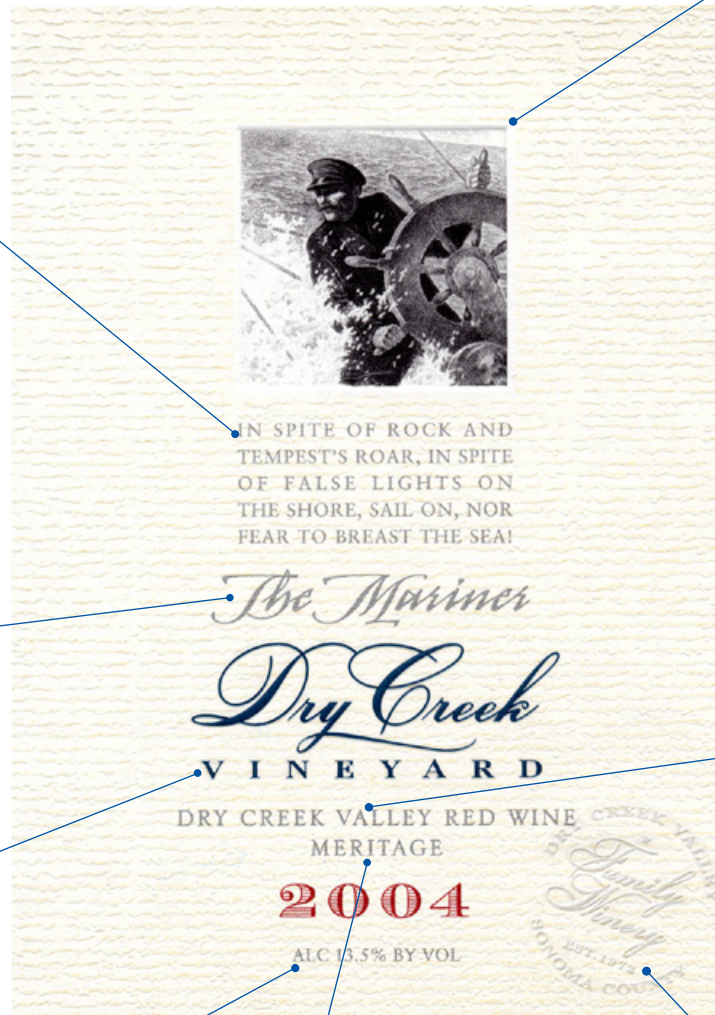

Mariner: (noun) - a person who directs or assists in the navigation of a ship; sailor. The essence of the Mariner blend captures the strength, finesse, and complexity that grapes can provide – even in the face of adversity.

As the region’s namesake winery, our family continues to push the bar of excellence higher, crafting wines with greater depth and complexity.

Balance and finesse are our blending goals. This is a wine that is built to age.

Meritage – is a key element for our winery in terms of our history and support of the concept. The Mariner, however, reflects our new-found strength and creativity in crafting this blend.

The life of a Mariner is not easy – the sea, weather, unforeseen obstacles – many elements conspire against him. A winemaker also faces many challenges. The task is difficult one, to navigate through a vintage and craft a world-class wine

Dry Creek Valley is the source of fruit for this wine. The Dry Creek Valley AVA provides a flavor profile unique to our home region.
